

News that keeps up with their curriculum

Equip students with the latest news and insights from around the world so they can stay sharp and ready for academic and real-life challenges.

13

publications read monthly per user

4.5

monthly sessions per user

170

articles read monthly per user

Today's version

Available, before it is even in store.

Rich imagery

Because sometimes, "a picture is worth a thousand words".

Placement

Placement of an article conveys information about its importance.

Browsability

Read full publications in original format or immersive text view from cover to cover.

Translation features

Makes content from around the world accessible in 32 different languages.

A news platform students want to use

Computer

Phone

Tablet

Who said reading the news has to be boring? Make it easy to access global news and stories — fully replicated in their original contexts. This way, learning becomes an exciting adventure they can embark on anytime, anywhere, in a way they enjoy.

Nurture their minds and wellbeing

Students can read stories from home or expand their global perspectives. Whether they're reading for class or finding tips for a nascent hobby, PressReader has it all.

“ Having a tool like PressReader, that is really easy to use and visually appealing, is great. We can use it not just to support teaching and research but also for so many other initiatives around well-being, equality and diversity.

Katrin Roberts, Faculty Librarian for Humanities & Social Sciences, University of Bath

Today's global news for tomorrow's leaders

The world is buzzing with new ideas. Ideas that can shape tomorrow's leaders. Make it easier for your students to tap into the latest stories and insights from around the world. Keep their learning fresh, engaging and relevant.

60+ languages

120+ countries

7000+ publications

Click to get in touch